THOSE COMPLAINTS.

Mr. Bramble has seen fit to come before the people and charge THE REVIEW with having made an unwarranted, personal artack upon him. Let us see about this matbecause he was "briefly quoted in The Herald of a recent date as expressing the views dering community to the effect that Decatur ought to have a republican postmaster. Now it will be remembered that The REVIEW'S article was not directed aione against what Bramble had to say in The Herald. Attention: from time to time, during the last year, been complaining in all the papers that would give him space. Readers of Decatur since the distribution of federal offices fell into republican hands. As far as we reagainst l'ostmaster Jack's administration. by treason to the republican party. But charges that have been made by Bramble. The people of Decatur can recall most of Now, we would like to ask in all fairness.

what was the duty of the democratic paper under the circumstances? Postmaster Jack is a good democrat, and is one of Cleveland's appointees, and as such has the right to look to his party paper to defend him from public attacks so long as he does his duty. Bramble seems to be of the opinion that his attacks should not have opinion, and so we are left to imagine one There are some patriots who actually think that it is an exhibition of great forbearance to allow a democrat to live in the community at all. These fellows would be our masters. They would nagus, tues, has brought himself to believe that he was ordained by nature to stand unques tioned guard over that herd of common humanity that votes the democratic ticket, a schoolmaster by acknowledgment, who has a divine right to apply the birch up and down all democratic backs and not a murmur must be raised against the act. Maybe this incessant patriot has some such idea as this, and so has naturally concluded that any kind of protest from THE REVIEW IS unwarranted. Well, if the gentleman will only live half as long he has promised us, this mistaken notion will give place to to a much more desirable chunk of knowledge.

But there is another reason which is sometimes given why an attack should not be noticed. It relates to the unworthiness of the attack. Very often, owing to generally known surrounding circumstances, an assault of words can do little damage. It has been suggested to us that it may have been an appreciation of this fact which led Bramble to firmly believe that he ought to have been let alone in his attacks upon our postmaster. We admit that there is, for a time, weight in this view of the case. But we insist that in pollties there is often a good deal of force in mere repetition. The interests of even the best postmaster will tric lights? suffer, if someone is allowed to continually file complaints without a word of answer. This is especially true when it is possible for someone to forward the complaints to parties at a distance, who may not be entirely acquainted with the circumstances THE REVIEW submits that it had not a word to say until there was danger that this force of mere repetition might injure a worthy official. THE REVIEW trusts that these remarks will not be sufficient to convince a fair-minded man that any attack it may have made upon Mr. Bramble was not unwarranted.

But Bramble charges that it was scurrilous. On this point we invite inspection of the two articles. It was said that Bramble was a politician, not of very statesmanlike proportions. It was said that he was a candidate for the postoffice, and that this fact made him a chronic crank in the mat- $12,000. ter of finding fault with the present postmaster's actions. This was the burden of what he calls a personal and scurrilous attack. The gentleman does not deny that evening, Jan. 13, at 8 o'clock, on the second he has continually found fault. He does floor over Millikin's bank, of postmaster. In political purlance this the air that he is in the "hands of his friends." Well, if you will step into the street you will hear a rumor that he is a cardidate. This must come from the "triends," for Bramble's assurance is of an entirely different purport. Now who is unting this thing, Bramble or the friends i whose hands he nestles so confidingly? I'v a-sure us that he is not a candidate, he regives as an adequate motive, for the several attacks that he he has made, an all-debean in the place. And we are assured that this desire is more general, than limits duenza among the patriots. Then why dowe not have printed complaints from a greater number of men? Among all the others in this same desire, and yet in not a single one one of their cases has it proved a sufficient motive to drive them into newspaper complaints. The record shows that the motive given is not, ordinarily, sufficient o account for the act. Either Bramble is a single exception to the rule that guides thousands, or be hasn't sized himself up

But just now the question is one of personality rather than truth. We insist, that while there may have necessarily been a personal flavor about the article that appeared in The Review on the 9th inst., yet every word said said about. Mr. Bramble was pertinent to the issue. The question then was whether or not Mr. Jack should be removed on this man's complaints. Certainly any probable motive that lay be hind the complaints was matter which we make the issue. It has always been disposed to let this matter alone. But there omes a time when silence ceases to be golden; there comes a time when it becomes cowardice, and it had just as well be understood that, in any discussion, The Review neans. When an editor becomes unable to do this he had better step out of the busi-

In Bramble's protest against the nersonal Bramble says that he was attacked in journalism, he took occasion to emphasize the sincerity of his convictions, and to show his wonderful skill in driving right into the material heart of an issue, by mak- MASON ing a very pertinent and impersonal reference to the cellar of a Jacksonville, saloon The intimation is that an editor of THE RE-VIEW once failed in the saloon business. No doubt the criticism in all this relates to the foolishness and bad taste displayed by was called to the fact that he had said editor in engaging in this business heing elected vice-president of the United

For a long while the republican party was engaged in assuring the people that its so long that it has come to be accepted as good republican doctrine. As a logical result of this doctrine the republican party is now engaged in canonizing its most notorioas and hardened sinners. The Despatch was among the first of the organs to go into of the clerks that are in the postoflice, and the business of making halos for choice republican spirits. It is now engaged in tain earrier bought his retention in position gradually imparting the information that Dudley is the saint of the political garden. there is no occasion to go over the various From the silence of The Republican on this discovery we must conclude that The Despatch got hold of a "scoop," and then dis played a master-stroke of management by having it copyrighted. But The Dispatch has a queet bundle o evidence to support its foundation. Great stress is placed on the fact that the democrats of Indianapolis did not indict and my GENTINE SWISS CONDENSED MILK. Dudley just after the national election. The only objection to the force of this evidence hes in the fact that there is in Indiana a constitutional provision which made it necessary to have Dudley in the court room as soon as his trial should begin. In democrats tried all sorts of schemes to coax Dudley within the borders of his native state. But for some reason, best known to himself, the "blocks of five" hero suspected and bullyrag us, and expect us not to utter that there was a hook in the bait. Dudley a single protest. Perhaps Bramble, through was not the kind of fish that would bite in the winter time. Somehow or other he was unable to see any allurements about Indianapolis for several months. To understand how strange was this blindness of his, you must remember that there was present in Indianapolis, during all these months, the man who was about to come into a wealth of patronage which he intended to deliver to patriots who might be able to win his favor, and yet Dudley stayed away. Under these circumstances the democrats could not see their way clear to proceed with the trial. Now, is Dudley to be sainted because he remained away from Harrison's feast of good things, or because the democrats did not try him while he was so irrevocably absent?

A Novel Fire Extraguisher. Our Corinna correspondent makes reference to the level headed act of an amateur fireman in that town last Wednesday at the recent blaze.

T. F.: Burrill was the man.

In the midst of the uprear he noted with alarm that the roof of his house had also caught fire from the flying sparks and that a merry blaze was creeping along the shin-

his premises that would hold water had been surrendered to the use of the fire fighters and to was absolutely without means to convey vater upon his burning dwelling.
Did he despair! Never!

Rushing to the pond, he sat down in the water; then, with all the moisture he could conceal about his person, he hastened up the tadder that rested against the eaves of his building and most effectually sat down upon that blaze.

Inherited Scrofula. Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) cured my little boy of hereditary scrofuls, which broke out all over his face. For a year he had suffered, and I had given up all hopes of his recovery, when at length I decided to use S. S. S. After using a few bottles he was entirely rured. Not a symptom now remains of the disease. This was three years ago.

MRS. T. L. MATHERS, Mathereville, Miss.

In the early part of last year I had a violent attack of rheumatism, from which I was confined to my bed for over three months and at times was unable to turn myself in bed, or even raise the cover. A nurse had to be in constant attendance day and night. I was so feeble that what little nourishment I took had to be given me with a spoon. After calling in the best local physicians, and trying all other medicines without receiving any benefit, I was induced by friends to try Switt's Specific (S. S. S.) I discontinued all other medicines, and took a course of S. S. S. thirteen small bottles, which affected a complete and permanent ours.
